Diabetes Pills Raise Risks

A Windsor lawyer is now exploring the possibility of a lawsuit against drug maker GlaxoSmithKline.

The company manufactures the diabetes drug Avandia which is used to treat type 2 diabetes.

Monforton says his office has received "dozens of calls" from concerned citizens.

A new study has linked Avandia to side effects including greater risk of heart attack and possible death.

Monforton is consulting with doctors and scientists to determine whether there is a case to be made against the manufacturer of the drug.

For more information, patients are invited to log onto the website; avandia.gregmonforton.com
